House Passes Controversial Big Truck Bill

Harrisburg, (P)—The House, after two and one-half hours of hot debate, passed a long-fought bill yesterday increasing the load weight of commonly used trucks in Pennsylvania.

The vote was 112-79, crossing party lines, on the bill raising the weight limits from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds. The measure, which previously passed the Senate, was returned to that body for action on minor House amendments.

The measure, backed by the Pennsylvania Motor Truck association, would also sharply increase penalties for overloading. Instead of the present $50 fine the bill calls for a $100 fine with an additional $2 for each 100 pounds of overload.

Rep. J. P. Moran (D-Allegheny), opposing the measure during the debate, cited a long list of organizations he said opposed its passage. They included the Pennsylvania Association of Township Supervisors, automobile clubs, Pennsylvania State Grange, Pennsylvania State Association of Boroughs, the State CIO, the United Mine Workers and others.

Other provisions of the bill would give enforcement officers the right to require a violator to unload overweight cargoes on the spot and set up a formula for minimum braking standards and engine performance on trucks.

Claims of damage to highways should heavier truck loads be permitted figured largely in the debate.

"Every indication I have been able to find out shows that our roads can't take more weight," said Rep. Robert F. Kent (R-Crawford).

In other words, Kent said only a small group "will benefit and the effects might be drastic and expensive to a vast majority in this state."

Rep. H. G. Andrews, urging passage, said he was "quite aware" of a great many people opposing increasing the load weight of trucks.

Rep. John Shotwell (R-Monroe) was recorded as voting for the measure.

HST Assails Hate Mongers

Washington (AP)—President Truman bitterly denounced "slander-mongers" yesterday and said they are chipping away American freedoms "far more effectively than the Communists have ever been able to do."

The President used no names but he left no doubt he was talking about Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) and those in Congress and out, associated with the Senator's charges of Communists in government.

He said such persons have adopted the "character assassination" tactics of the very Communist totalitarianism they profess to be fighting and are seeking to silence speech with the threat of denunciation.

He called on an American Legion audience to "expose the rotten motives of the people who are trying to divide us."

Mr. Truman prepared his address for the dedication of the Legion's new $1,000,000 seven-story headquarters building here.

McCarthy, like the President a member of the Legion, promptly fired back in a prepared statement.

"I would like to ask the President," he said, "why he so viciously attacks in general terms those who expose Communists?"

"Why," he continued, "does the President fear discussing the evidence against his planners who have been responsible for the loss of 100,000,000 people a year to Communism since 1945?"

McCarthy renewed attacks he has aimed in Senate speeches at Philip C. Jessup, ambassador-at-large, and offered to give the President "documented proof" to back his accusations that Jessup has been affiliated with Communist front groups and Red-backed movements.

Weather Warm But Comfortable

Pittsburgh (AP)—Pittsburgh had a record high temperature yesterday but most people didn't realize it.

The mercury soared to 93 degrees. The previous record for August 14 was 90 in 1878.

Yesterday's temperature, second highest of the summer, was more comfortable than many sultry days because of an extremely low humidity.

Rebellion At Utah Prison Ends As Inmates Release Acting Warden And Guard

Point-of-the-Mountain, Utah, (AP)—A rebellion at the Utah State prison, the third in three months, ended suddenly late yesterday when convicts abandoned a series of demands and released two hostages.

Rioting inmates allowed Acting Warden Weston E. Haslam and Guard Edward A. Schmidt to walk to freedom from the maximum security section of the new, multi-million dollar prison at 4:15 p. m. (MST).

A few minutes later fire broke out in an old one-story frame barracks in one corner of the prison grounds. Fire-fighting equipment was rushed in.

The barracks are about 200 yards from the new prison structures. They formerly were used to house honor prisoners.

Haslam and Schmidt, who were not harmed, had been held as hostages since 9 a. m. Prisoners held them captive to enforce demands for alleviation of claimed grievances. They had protested against being confined in a segregation cellblock.

But the uprising, which drew 150 heavily armed officers from many parts of Utah, collapsed soon after Joseph E. Dudley, State Highway patrol chief and acting warden during the seven and one-half hour disturbance, conferred with the convicts.

Haslam flatly stated that Alvin Strauss and Wayne Johnston, serving terms for grand larceny, were responsible for the trouble. The same pair was involved in an escape attempt in June.

The battle-toughened Allied Eighth Army was pronounced "ready and fit" to whale the tar out of the Reds in the event full-scale fighting is resumed.

Overshadowing the fruitless 24th meeting were the remarks Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway made to correspondents in Tokyo and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander made to newsmen at Munsan.

Once again Ridgway flatly rejected the Communist demand that a Korean buffer zone be centered on the 38th parallel.

He pointed out that twice previously—at the start of the Korean war and on New Year's eve—overwhelming Communist offensives had driven the defenders back from that old political boundary.

"How could anyone ask us to go back to the same line," Ridgway asked. "We don't intend to."

The Communists have rejected Allied proposals for a line along the battlefield as "absurd and outrageous," largely because it lies for the most part north of the 38th parallel.

There was an implied time limit however on Allied patience in an official statement released by Ridgway's headquarters.

Ridgway declared the Allies have been patient, firm and reasonable in the talks and added: "We shall continue to be so, so long as the negotiations hold out any hope of eventual success."

Van Fleet said his Eighth Army were "ready and fit" to smash the Communist armies which have been building up front line power while the truce talks were in progress.

Van Fleet said: "I don't know of a better way to get it over faster."

He said "the enemy is hurting. He is in bad shape. He needs peace."

Truman entered in Minnesota's Primary Election

Washington (AP)—President Truman got word yesterday his name will be entered in the March 18 Minnesota primary, second of 16 convention delegate elections to be held next year.

If he runs again for the Democratic nomination—and he was quoted as saying that was a bridge to be crossed—"when we come to it"—Senator Brewster (R-Me.) said the Republicans would "lick him with Ohio's Senator Taft."

In between these developments, Senator Douglas (D-Ill.), whose relations with Mr. Truman have cooled in recent weeks, said he is not and will not be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. He asked withdrawal of petitions seeking to list him as a candidate for president in the Oregon primary, where President Truman's name will be entered.

Eighth Army Ready, Fit To Smash Reds

Munsan, Korea, Wednesday (AP)—The 25th armistice meeting at Kaesong adjourned today after one hour and 48 minutes with no indication of a break in the tense deadlock on a cease-fire buffer zone.

The Allied and Communist negotiators agreed to meet again tomorrow, at 1 p. m. (11 p. m., EDT, Wednesday).

The comparatively brevity of today's session was taken to mean the prolonged deadlock on a military dividing line continues. However, as usual, there was no immediate official announcement as to results of the session.

It convened in a tense atmosphere, in the wake of a blistering demand by the United Nations supreme commander for a settlement "with honor and without appeasement."

The battle-toughened Allied Eighth Army was pronounced "ready and fit" to whale the tar out of the Reds in the event full-scale fighting is resumed.

Overshadowing the fruitless 24th meeting were the remarks Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway made to correspondents in Tokyo and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander made to newsmen at Munsan.

Interstate Spans To Be Erected At Water Gap, Portland And Milford

Harrisburg — The Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge commission will erect three great toll bridge structures across the Delaware River at Portland, Delaware Water Gap and Milford at an approximate total cost of $15,000,000 Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe, (R-Monroe) announced here yesterday.

Crowe said he was announcing the giant construction program after a conference with Alex Miller, Easton, Pa., chairman of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge commission.

The Monroe senator said Mr. Miller had advised him the commission will proceed immediately with plans to advertise for bids on all three structures.

Key factor in the decision, Crowe said, was Miller's announcement that the commission had definite assurance that sufficient steel is being allocated the commission for construction of all three bridges.

Estimated costs involved for the bridges run $8,300,000 for the Delaware Water Gap structure, $3,600,000 for the Portland bridge and $2,400,000 for the one at Milford.

The impact of a $15,000,000 expenditure in this region will have a tremendous beneficial effect on communities near the three construction points, in addition to the great long-range benefits to be

44 Killed In Turkish Earthquake

Istanbul, Turkey (AP)—At least 44 persons were killed in an earthquake that rocked northwestern Turkey Monday night, official announcements said yesterday.

Another 74 were severely injured. The announcement said the figures were not final. Casualty reports still are coming with the discovery of more bodies in the debris of several hundred collapsed buildings.

The shock was felt at the capital, Ankara, and at Istanbul, but caused neither damage nor casualties in those cities.

The tremor lasted 50 seconds.

Turnpike Bill Clears Senate Highways Group

Harrisburg (AP)—Two bills authorizing extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike were approved yesterday by the Senate Highways committee.

One measure would extend the Commonwealth's toll road southward from a point near Harrisburg to the Maryland border to connect with any superhighway Maryland might construct between the State line and the District of Columbia.

The other bill would permit the Pennsylvania Turnpike commission to build still another extension from a point east of the Susquehanna river, northward through the anthracite coal regions around Scranton to a point on near the New York State border.

This measure already has been passed by the House.

Another bill authorizing construction of a turnpike extension across northern Pennsylvania from Erie to Scranton was passed finally by the General Assembly and sent to the Governor.

Senate GOP Assures House Of Votes To Pass Tax Bill

Harrisburg, (AP)—The Senate Republican caucus renewed its support yesterday of a $138,685,000 compromise tax program to replace the income tax.

The action was taken at the explicit request of the House GOP leadership. House Republicans were wary that their colleagues in the Senate may be unable to deliver the necessary votes to deliver the package reach a floor decision.

"We have at least 27 Republican votes for each of the six tax proposals," said Sen. T. Newell Wood (R-Luzerne), chairman of the Senate Finance committee.

He added that support of the tax package is "solid enough" to assure Senate passage.

The tax package includes new levies on tobacco products and real estate transfers and increases in the cigarette and corporate net income levies.

Despite that assurance, the House Republican caucus tarried in following through on the Senate tax package, Speaker Herbert P. Sarg (R-Eli) said a heavy legislative calendar precluded a caucus yesterday.

"We plan a caucus Wednesday and taxes probably will be discussed," Sarg told a newsmen.

Meanwhile, Gov. John S. Fine issued a statement saying he has neither agreed nor disagreed with the Senate tax package.

"As a matter of fact, there are tax measures in that package which I have heretofore deplored and said I was against," said Fine.

He did not identify the specific proposals which he opposed.

The Governor also denied a published report that he had given assurance to soft drinks interests that he would have vetoed a revival of the cent a bottle soft drinks levy had it been included in the tax package. That levy was dropped at the last minute, in framing the compromise program, because of Fine's opposition to it.

Washington (AP)—Seasonal drops for fruits, vegetables and poultry brought a decline of 1.6 per cent in retail food prices during the last two weeks of July, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported yesterday.

The index for July 30, estimated on the basis of an eight-city survey was about 226.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average. That was about 11 1/2 per cent above the pre-Korean index.

The cities surveyed were Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Columbus, New York, Richmond, San Francisco and Washington.

Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe

gained by adequate highway bridge crossings into the Pocono Mountains region, Senator Crowe emphasized.

Bids for all three bridges will be opened September 14 in the commission's offices in Broad Street Bank Building, Trenton, N. J., Senator Crowe said last night.

Contracts for the structures will be let 2 days after bids are opened, provided they are reasonably within the commission's estimates. Work is scheduled to start a month after contracts are let.

Crowe said estimates call for completion of the structures in about two years.

The State of New Jersey has already approved a limited access highway from Columbia, N. J. to the entrance of the Delaware Water Gap Bridge which will be located just above Kittatinny Beach on the New Jersey side of the river, Senator Crowe said.

This approach will be a four-lane road, completely restricted against all types of roadside structures and installations—similar to the Pennsylvania Turnpike restrictions.

Both Portland and Delaware Water Gap bridges will be steel-deck girder type structures, while the Milford bridge will be a very high-level deck truss-type construction.

High-level feature of the Milford bridge is designed to compensate for any higher level produced by dams, either hydro-electric or of the storage reservoir type proposed by the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin.

New bridge at Portland has a selected site 1,500 feet down river from the existing wooden, covered bridge. It will connect with U. S. Route 46 near the existing grade crossing for a spur line of D. & W. Railroad, and with the New Jersey concrete road in Knowlton Township, not far from the Log Cabin. The bridge takes a direct shore-to-shore course.

Bridge contacting Delaware Water Gap takes a diagonal course from Kittatinny Beach upstream and across the river to a point near the Delaware Water Gap station. The existing island in front of the Water Gap station will be used for some of the piers.

All of the structures will be four-lane with a center-line divider structure.

All of the bridges, when built will necessitate extensive road relocations and re-developments by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to handle the flood of traffic coming into the Pennsylvania communities at or near bridge approaches.

Civil Defense Designed To Save Lives

Editors Note: as a service to civil defense efforts in Monroe county, The Daily Record presents a series of articles on the latest Federal booklet, "This Is Civil Defense."

What is civil defense?
It is a way of saving lives and property. Civil defense is a way of protecting you and your family in case of war. It is a way of helping to keep you going, and to keep production going. In spite of atomic, biological or chemical attacks.

One of the chief aims of civil defense is to help you stay at work no matter what may come. Unless all of us keep at our jobs in the face of attack, the enemy will win the war. His aim would be to make you and others desert your cities so our defense plants would shut down.

America CAN be attacked at any time. Right now enemy planes can reach every major city in the United States. We know Russia has long-range bombers patterned after our. Most of them could get through our defenses. We know Russia has atomic bombs, and is making more all the time. She is able to wage biological warfare for use against people, plants and animals. Russia has war gases. We know that some of the German experts who developed the new and deadly nerve gases were taken into Russia at the end of the past war.

Aircraft could deliver atomic bombs, disease or poison gases at any moment. What is more, fifth columnists within our own country could strike with all three types of weapons. It could happen simultaneously, or saboteurs could start their work much earlier. With some types of biological warfare, they could begin work weeks or even months ahead of time, with-

Miss Bentley Claims Reds Penetrated White House, Treasury, OSS During War

Washington, CP—Elizabeth Bentley testified yesterday that Communist agents penetrated the White House, the Treasury and even the exclusive Office of Strategic Services during World War Two.

Miss Bentley, who describes herself as a former Red spy, told the Senate's internal security subcommittee that for a time after 1943 she directed the agents' attempts to pry out State secrets or lead government departments down the road of Soviet policy.

She testified that she managed to place Duncan Lee, whom she described as a New York lawyer, in the Office of Strategic Services (OSS), which was then an elite American espionage group. Lee, she said, became an assistant to Maj. Gen. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan, head of OSS.

She testified that Lee "was frightened to death of what he was doing," but said he fed the spy ring information diligently and "was one of our most valuable workers."

Thomas Corrigan, Washington lawyer, told a reporter that Lee, his law associate, has denied under oath in an earlier Senate inquiry the accusations Miss Bentley made yesterday. He said Lee is away on a vacation.

Miss Bentley said that her organization used the late Harry Dexter White, then undersecretary of the Treasury, to push a Russian plan to eliminate Germany's industrial potential for war.

Miss Bentley testified before the House Un-American Activities committee in 1948 that White had Communist affiliations. White denied it. Shortly afterwards he died of a heart attack.

Miss Bentley claimed the spy ring's White House contact was Michael Greenberg, an assistant to Laughlin Currie, one of the late President Roosevelt's aides. She said Greenberg was a Communist, and that at the time he was a British subject.

She named White and Currie as two of the most valuable government officials to Red spies. She said she did not know that either was a card-carrying Communist, but she said White followed "Communist discipline" and that Currie was very close to a Red unit of government officials organized for espionage work.

Currie denied this before the House committee.

Asked about the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR), which has figured prominently in the Senate subcommittee's inquiry, Miss Bentley said it was "red as a rose" but too openly tied to Communism for undercover workers to approach.

Miss Bentley has described herself as a "misguided idealist," who fell in love with Jacob Golos, a Communist agent, and worked for him as a courier. When he died of

Bank Installs New Sidewalk Teller Window

Today Stroudsburg Security Trust Co. puts into operation its new walk-up, sidewalk teller window for the use of motorizing bank depositors. The window has been installed on the Seventh St. side of the bank, and just opposite the window two parking spaces have been reserved for its users.

A depositor drives into the parking space, walks to the window, presses a button, and a bank teller accepts his deposit. He then gets back into his car and drives away thus making the space available for other such depositors.

The window has been installed as a convenience to those who, heretofore have been compelled by traffic conditions to park their cars many blocks from the bank and walk through the busy streets with large sums of money.

The window is of heavy tooled steel and bullet-proof glass. The teller operates two aperture doors from the inside . . . one for compact deposits and one for bulky deposits. When the outside trapdoor is open the aperture is closed by an inside door. The depositor places his deposit in the aperture. The teller then closes the outside door which, at the same time opens the inside door making the deposit available to the teller.

The window has a built-in speaking system which makes it possible for the customer to talk to the teller and the teller to the customer. At no time during the acceptance of a deposit is there a clear opening from the street into the bank. It is the most modern street teller window manufactured by the Mosler Safe Co., maker of most of the large bank vaults.

This new service is for the use of motorizing depositors only and not for general banking business.

The birthday of Ronald Shick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Shick, was observed on Sunday evening with a small family gathering and appropriate refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Shook and daughter of Stroudsburg were guests at the Shick home. Ronald was 11 years old on the 13th.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clugston and son, W. Robert Clugston attended the wedding of their granddaughter and niece Betty I. Miller to Frank Melvin, on Sunday afternoon at the Zion Reformed Church, where Rev. Frank Blatt performed the double ring ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Evelyn, and the groom by his father. There was a reception afterward at the bride's home for members of the immediate families, with a delicious buffet luncheon. The home was beautifully decorated with flowers from the Miller garden which is a riot of bloom just at this time, and the numerous wedding gifts were on display for the enjoyment of the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blythe are receiving congratulations from their many friends in the section over the birth last week of a boy weighing over nine pounds. This is their second child, the first Laurel is of early school age. Mrs. Blythe and infant are doing well and expect to return home this week. The baby's name will be Stephen Frederick.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hartman and daughter, Pat, left Saturday afternoon on a weekend trip down East. They drove to West Hartford, N. Y., arriving there in the early evening. They stayed with friends of long standing over night and on Sunday after lunch drove to Hartford, where their daughter, Barbara, is taking a course at the Hartford Seminary Foundation, preparatory to her missionary career. They attended the dedication services at the Foundation which were very impressive. They arrived safely home late Sunday evening. "Bobby" is returning home this week for a short visit.

Mrs. Edward Tiebout, who is staying at Spring Brook Cottage for a week or so, spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. William Clugston.

Speaker Cites Purpose Of Crime Inquiry

Mount Pocono — Future legislative action to curb any and all evils unearthed by the current Senate Crime committee hearings is the only good reason for staging the hearings, Rotary club members here were told this week.

The speaker was Attorney Henry Biglan, Scranton. Mr. Biglan is district governor of Exchange clubs. His county and Luzerne county have been the center of some hearings by the Senate Crime committee.

He cited the protective rights of those who come before the committee in relation to "self-degradation" and "self-incrimination."

protest to high Soviet authorities. The fighter planes appeared to fly as low as 500 feet in an area where many civil airlines make almost hourly takeoffs and landings.

We Aren't Welshers

When the United Nations began consideration of its 1951 budget, the United States was assessed 49 per cent of the total.

The American delegation objected to this as unreasonable, but finally compromised on a figure of 38.92 per cent. The budget was then approved on that basis, with the United States voting in the affirmative.

Notice was given, however, that in the future the U.S. would expect to have its contribution reduced to a figure not exceeding one-third of the total.

Disregarding the 1951 commitment the United States has made, the House of Representatives has voted to cut the American contribution to one-third for this year—an actual reduction of $3,297,861.

If every other member of the UN should adopt this policy of welshing on the budget, the organization would be on its way to dissolution.

Having made an agreement we should keep it. The Senate should restore this item to its original figure and insist upon its retention.

We can't maintain our position of leadership in the world unless our word is as good as our bond.

Untutored People

Why is everyone so excited because somebody says there were slot machines going at a General State Authority picnic? Most people know what slot machines are. Why should it suddenly be made to appear that there is some startling news connected with the play of slot machines?

What is startling is the statement of one of the picnic committee who said that some of the picnic committeemen would no know a slot machine from a "singing box." He means jukebox.

Until the committee can rectify this ignorance: The slot machine is the one with the handle on the side, a window that all too rarely shows three bells, and from which you never hear the muscular tones of "On Top of Old Smokey."

If you hear Vaughn Monroe, it positively is not a slot machine.

One Advantage

When Monroe countians start to get fretful about the taxes they have to pay, they at least have one thing to be thankful for.

Down in Miami, there's a tax on personal property—furniture. So far, the van hasn't picked up a single load, they don't pay, the tax collector has authority to seize the property.

So, the tax collector has a big moving van, and every year at taxpaying time, he gets out the van to haul in the furniture. So far, the van hasn't picked up a single load. The taxpayers always decide to pay.

Red Honor

The East German Communists have arrested a number of youngsters who were supposed to be on hand for a spontaneous attendance for a happy World Youth Festival.

The kids played hookey and went over to West Berlin.

It is unclear whether they will be worse punished than our cadets but it does prove that the Communists have their honor system troubles, too.

Status Quo

Just when we were thinking the world certainly had changed, a man goes over Niagara Falls in a barrel and Frank Sinatra threatens to punch a photographer. Ho, hum.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

When Danny Kaye made a great hit in James Thurber's "Walter Mitty," producer Sam Goldwyn thought he'd like to have Thurber as a permanent addition to his writing stable. The catch lay in the fact that Thurber was working very happily for Magazine Editor Harold Ross and had no desire whatever to dally further with picture making.

"I'll pay you five hundred dollars a week," wrote Goldwyn. "Sorry," answered Thurber after some delay, "but Mr. Ross has met the increase." Goldwyn thereupon raised the ante to a thousand, then fifteen hundred, and finally twenty-five hundred a week, but each time got nothing for his pains but the courteous response, "Mr. Ross has met the increase."

There followed a long interim of silence. Then one day Mr. Goldwyn wrote again. This time, for some unknown reason, his offer went down to fifteen hundred. Thurber wrote back, "I'm sorry, but Mr. Ross has met the decrease."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Little Mona Freeman is a big girl now. She wishes the studios would hurry up and find parts that would let her act her age.

She's 25. She has been married for several years to an auto dealer named Pat Nerney. Their daughter is three-and-one-half. So what does Mona play on the screen?

Well, she recently finished a role as Joan Fontaine's 14-year-old daughter. Black stockings, flat heels, and long hair tied with a ribbon helped the illusion. While she was expecting Mona, Jr., she played Betty Grable's daughter in "Mother Wore Tights."

No more of those "Dear Ruth" pictures for her, Mona said. In those ("Dear Wife," "Dear Beat") she's a dedicated juvenile whose militant causes upset her furist father, Edward Arnold. "No more of those," she amended, "unless it's one where I grow up, get married, and have children."

Miss Freeman, a doll-like, green-eyed blonde 5 feet two-and-one-half inches tall, thinks it's her small size that makes her look young. "I'm happy I don't look 25," she said. "When I'm 30, maybe I'll look 25; then I'll be even happier."

What roles would she like? "Something really offbeat," she said. "I'm not sure I know what I mean, but I'd know it if I saw it. Not necessarily a girl with a twitch."

No more juveniles, though. I'd play a girl of 18 if it's a grown-up part with a love interest."

She was Alan Ladd's love interest in "Branded," and Bill Holden's in "Streets of Laredo." But western roles don't appeal to her. The Wanda Hendrix-Ann Blyth-Nancy Olson type of part is what Mona said she yearns for.

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Mrs. Agnes M. Lewis, corresponding secretary, National Blue Star Mothers of America, writes me: "This all-important question of invisible control in these United States must eventually be answered!"

"Shall it be answered by you, Mr. Sokolsky, or some more courageous columnist?"

What is this invisible control? When Al Smith ran for president, a vicious campaign was conducted against him on the assumption that the Pope maintained an invisible control of the United States. Bigots fought Al Smith as though he were not in every respect a better man and a better American than any one of his traducers. In 1932, Al Smith failed of the presidential nomination by his party to some extent because this bigotry continued to frighten so-called practical politicians.

Now, the bigotry has been transferred to certain Jews who were closely associated with Franklin D. Roosevelt: Bernard Baruch, Felix Frankfurter, Sam Rosenman, Anna Rosenberg, and Henry Morgenthau. The bigotry does not apply to the larger number and more influential Christians who were associated with Franklin D. Roosevelt. Why should one group and not the other be the "invisible control?" And why should anybody be so accused when we live in a country of free elections? The people can vote anybody out of office.

There is only one way to deal with this problem, out of which men and women are earning a livelihood by building organizations, publishing newspapers, selling brochures. That way is complete publicity.

If these people have evidence that there is an invisible control of the government of the United States, an illegal, subversive control, they should put their evidence before the FBI, the House committee on Un-American Activities and the McCarran committee — let them take their choice and let there be a thorough public investigation. Let us have all the facts.

These accusers can testify under oath as to what they know. For instance, Bernard Baruch is indisputably one of our ablest citizens who has served his country for a prolonged period. When these fanatical persons attack him because as an American citizen, whose father was a surgeon in the Civil War and whose mother's family settled in this country in the 17th century, he expresses his opinions or serves his government, they are seeking to pursue in the United States the anti-Christian racism of Hitler. One need not agree with Baruch to respect him.

Justice Felix Frankfurter has been an active citizen, serving many presidents since Woodrow Wilson. He now sits on the United States Supreme court. To accuse a justice of the highest court of our land of subversion, which is what "invisible control" means, is an attack upon the integrity of the court. This should be investigated and the charges sifted.

Granted that Felix Frankfurter, at times, is politically inept, even meddlesome, his decisions from the bench have been on the conservative side as compared with Justice Hugo Black or Justice William O. Douglas.

If it was bad form for Frankfurter to testify in the Hiss case, it was equally bad for Justice Stanley Reed. One is a Jew; the other a Christian. Neither is engaged. I am sure, in "invisible control."

But these organizations that are making charges of "invisible control" do conduct a constant propaganda, in many forms, over the entire country. These are sad and unhappy times when all sorts of unseemingly things happen. There are spies and foreign agents and Communists and dupes all over the place. There are men and women who play on our miseries for whatever profit it may bring them.

There are due processes to discover the truth or falsity of the accusations, of the accused and of the accusers. It is unwise to keep any propaganda under cover. That in itself can become "invisible control," particularly if profitable organizations and publications are associated with it.

The aims and purposes of the National Blue Star Mothers of America are stated on the letterhead to be: "To retain our republic and our constitutional form of government. Outlaw political Zionism—Communism."

Precisely what the second part of those aims and purposes is, it is impossible to say. Zionism and Communism are no more related movements than the Blue Star Mothers are to Stalin. Political Zionism has established a state, Israel, in Palestine, recognized by the government of the United States. Communism is now an international conspiracy, based on the ideas of Marx and Lenin, designated to conquer the world. The antithesis is obvious.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

By Louis Francis Budenz
Washington — When Fulton Lewis invited me to contribute this column, he said: "You may write what you like."

Kind words of that character would cause any ex-Communist who has given service to the United States government to jump at the chance. Not infrequently he can expect a torrent of abuse for anything he might say, coming from certain non-Communist quarters in addition to the regular round of Red vituperation.

I wish today to make an appeal for these ex-Communists, who have loyally served the United States by testifying against the Red conspiracy. They have been treated to a smear, extensive and gangster-like, which constitutes a national disgrace. I do not include my own case, since I am in a peculiar position. I have made my peace with my conscience and my God and am indifferent to what the appeasers say about me. But this organized campaign of character assassination against anyone who seeks to aid the government will soon deprive the United States of any witnesses against the conspiracy. It contrasts with the gentle treatment accorded those who defiantly refuse to help.

In 1939, John Leech, a former official of the Communist party in California, appeared before the House committee on Un-American Activities under subpoena. Asked to tell what he knew of the Communists in Hollywood, Leech mentioned the leading role of Frank Tuttle and furnished many other names of actors and writers since established to be Reds. For that testimony, Leech was subjected to scurrilous attacks, which went on and on. Well-manicured writers, who weep at any fancied injuries to the Reds, joined in the assault. Rumors were set on foot that he was a worthless and shady character. He became a marked man, denied employment, and at certain moments faced the grim possibility of actual death by starvation.

Now in 1950 and '51, in the new hearings before the House committee on Un-American Activities, Leech is completely upheld, out of the mouths of some of those whom he accused. Frank Tuttle at last admits that he was a Communist and a leading one in Hollywood. Other like testimony shows that Leech told the truth in 1939, word by word. I suggest that the United States government declare this to be the case, publicly acclaim Leech's service to the country, and rehabilitate his position and good name. That is the least that should be done.

One of the witnesses upon whom the government particularly relied for evidence against alien Reds, who were illegally in this country, was George Hewitt. He had been a well-known Negro Communist, section organizer for a number of years in Harlem, and a member of the State committee of the New York Communist party. He had also been to Moscow, and when he broke with the Red conspiracy was valuable to the government in furnishing evidence of American Stalinists who had been there. For all of this, he was persecuted in the most degraded fashion. Obscene and threatening messages were written on the doors of his apartment. His family was harassed. He was also hounded from job to job. What occurred thereafter is just what might have been expected. While testifying in Cleveland, Hewitt suffered a stroke, although he was only in his forties and therefore a comparatively young man.

George Hewitt, because he served this country, is now a cripple, eking out his existence on relief and by the occasional sale of small articles.

One of the popular pastimes of the appeaser press, and of certain public figures that work with that press, is to insinuate that no

Broadway and Elsewhere

—By Jack Lait

In the Key of Gee!

Benny Binion, the Dallas "rival" of Herbert Noble, gambler who was blown to death in the twelfth attempt at assassinating him, has a two-year option to acquire the Horseshoe Club, which opens its doors today in Las Vegas (called by the mob "Lost Wages"). Nev... Binion is the man who, I reported, was on the other end of the phone when Hal Shimley met Noble in a Texas auto court, which had been "bugged" by detectives. Shimley, acting for Binion, was seeking to "straighten the whole damn thing out (with Noble) so we can work in the open and we can all make money."

Binion invested $350,000 in the Horseshoe Club. He bought the slot-machine interest from P. O. Silvagni for $175,500 and participated in paying off $87,000 owed by the former owners. Binion has so far been unable to get a Nevada license to "run."

Now that we have harvested all the authorities on how, why, when and where Fannie Bries came to sing "My Man," we can move onto the story of how Baby Snooks was born... It came about in 1914, when Fannie was playing Keith's in Cleveland. Her star number then was a satire on Pearl White's movie serial miseries in "Perils of Pauline," a ditty by Ray Walker (still with us and living in Miami Beach) titled "Poor Pauline." At an after-theatre party in her "honor" Fannie was asked to perform (aren't they always?) and, as all those present had attended that evening's show, she gave her song a different twist by doing it in hisping baby-talk. It was so well received, she tried it out that way at the matinee next day and it hit. She kept it. In she had never before believed she had talent at that sort of diction. Later, when she started on radio, "My Man," for which she had become famed, was barred as unsuitable for the great American audience. She thought of the infantile prattle and tried it, with instant success. "Snooks" had been the pet name of a neighbors dimpled dumpling, and she adopted it.

It was about 25 years ago, July, 1926, when Will Rogers spoke his most famous line—"I've never met anybody I didn't like." And the place he picked to make that Christian statement was Moscow!

I have a letter from Will Rogers, Jr. He tells me both my books on his father are in honored positions in the Will Rogers Memorial Library, in Claremont, Okla... That the Warner movie script of his father's life has been rewritten eight or nine times, and that Frank Davis is now working on still another one; the earlier life of the cowboy-actor-humorist-philosopher is colorful, but, "after he became famous there is no conflict."

credence can be put in the testimony of ex-Communists. This is a typical big lie, manufactured originally by the Communist conspiracy itself for its own protection. The record of the testimony of these people, page by page, demonstrates a meticulous regard for the truth.

Testimony in some of our other cases in the courts might well emulate this accuracy. I will not dwell on the well known case of Whitaker Chambers, about whom the vilest whispers were spread, and his complete vindication in the Alger Hiss conviction. There is an almost forgotten affair, the original hearings during the Roosevelt administration for the deportation of Harry Bridges. The witness who declared Bridges a Communist had vitriol poured on their reputations, and the allegation that they were unworthy of belief even crept into the final decision favoring Bridges. Today, with Bridges convicted of perjury, I have failed to hear an apology from the gentlemen in high posts who were so wrong in the denunciation of these witnesses.

The project I reported yesterday, to restore his voice to radio by broadcasting his best recorded talks, he amplifies by explaining: "About a year ago, some technicians discovered a means of removing rust from old aluminum transcriptions. Most of Dad's were made that way, and had been regarded as worthless because of oxidation. By the new system, his voice comes up sharp and clear."

Uncle Nick Kenny, whose "Cheer Up Club" has brightened the drab lives of shut-ins so long and persistently, needs a bit of such bedside sunshine himself. He's in St. Clare's Hospital, N. Y. C. They say it's a "check-up." I hope they check him out, soon.

Havana Confidential — Everything wide open. Gambling, prostitution, indescribable "shows"... Even the streets are crooked... The national weekly lottery pays the $300,000,000 cost of the government, of which, I'm told, certain politicians pocket $175,000,000. And these grafters are the softest touches for the gambling gimmicks... Among those in on the payoff are influential newspapermen... It's a short hop from Miami, which has become the home of American mobsters, Joe Fischetti being pointed out as the top celeb, holding court for The Boys from his own Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Youngstown and New York.

"Bagels and Yox" will have 194 producers when it hits B-way. The program in Atlantic City reads, "Brandt Theatres, in Association with Al Beckman and John Pransky, Present." Since the Brandts have 102 theatres, a record for "angels" will be established... The show is still rolling high in Atlantic City, and may re-establish that ocean resort as a break-in stand, which it long was.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

In Miami a 61-year-old man has been sentenced to two years in state prison on a charge of embezzlement.

The man, who has a long record of arrests, told the county solicitor's office he WANTED to go back to jail.

"I want to die in jail," he said, "away from a world that has speeded up too fast for an old, sick man."

Next to me in the barber chair sat a man who looked about sixty, but who, as the barber told me afterwards, was 91 years old. He was talking about a little trip he had taken recently with his son.

"I guess Jim thought I ought to see a little of the country before I die," he said.

He had been to the Green Mountains of Vermont and the White Mountains of New Hampshire—two of the loveliest mountain chains in the whole United States.

"Do you know," he said to the barber, "I never knew how beautiful this country is!"

"I wish there were time left to see all of it."

Then he turned to me—the barber must have told him that I was a newspaper man.

"Tell your readers to go traveling and to see what a grand country this is."

"Tell them that traveling is the best medicine there is for what ails you."

"Tell them to get that car of theirs going and SER for themselves what we are fighting for."

"Before I took that trip I was AGAINST the war in Korea. I figured that it was all a lot of humbug."

"But now that I have seen part of America, I want to tell you that if I were younger I'd enlist tomorrow and fight to keep this great country intact."

I compared that 61-year-old man in Miami with the 91-year-old fellow in the barber chair.

I wondered what had made the one so old and kept the other one so young.

And I came to the conclusion that the one went through life with his EYES CLOSED, the other had his opened before it was too late.

The world has speeded up—but not too fast for the man who resolves to stay young.

The mountains—be they green or white—are there for every one to see and to enjoy.

Gasoline is one of the cheapest medicines on earth.

Put some gasoline into your car and go wandering. You'll be surprised how much you will save on pills and potions. The man who fills your car is better than the best doctor.

Too many people say they can't afford to travel.

But what is cheaper, a ride in your car or a trip to the hospital?

Too many people live in jail—a self-made jail from which they may escape by just opening their eyes!

The OPS and Phone Rates

The OPS is now entering the fight to control telephone rates. This disposes of the general idea that it had all the troubles it wanted. OPS has no power to control utility rates, and in admitting this, one regional deputy director, Julius S. Wikler, announces that "while OPS cannot put any ceiling on such rates, it is concerned with everything that affects the family pocket-book and it will participate in the rate dispute as a friend of the customers." Elmer Twitchell, a phone user who gets pretty hot over rises in telephone bills, is nevertheless highly disturbed by Mr. Wikler's words and has dashed off the following letter: Dear Mr. Wikler:

After observing what has happened to all prices under OPS, I ask you as a special favor, please don't step into the phone rates squabble as a friendly act to me. I am sure it would only make telephone calls more expensive. OPS acted in the meat situation and look where steaks are! It acted in hundreds of items figuring in my daily life and I am still behind the eight-ball. I know what will happen when OPS steps into the phone issue. It will grade all telephone calls into four classes: choice, good, fair, and commercial. All the choice numbers will be a dollar a pound and I will have to take nothing but fourth-grade numbers.

Then Mike DiSalle or Eric Johnson or somebody will issue an order that will take me nine days to read. I will need four lawyers to interpret it. When I get it interpreted, it will mean that the telephone girls and I will have to keep books showing all calls. I will be classified as the middleman, between the telephone girl and the party getting my call. And I will be asked to keep records, too.

OPS will probably order phone rates posted from day to day in all phone booths and homes, which will be extra rugged, as I have trouble enough reading what is printed in phone booths already. Before I know it, I won't be able to call my Aunt Minerva without studying a price index, a dozen charts and a bunch of rules on priorities. You admit that you can't do a thing for me but will step into the hassle because you are "concerned about my pocketbook." Lay off! I am already surrounded by people who can't help me but just want to show concern. They are twenty deep on all sides. What I need are a couple of guys who even if not much CONCERNED about me personally, CAN help me all along the line, from calves liver and onions up to a new pair of pants and a toll-line call. If you know anybody like that drop me a line.

Yours sincerely,
Elmer.

Supervisors Install 21 New Street Lights At Pocono Pines

Property Owners Cooperate

Pocono Pines — This Tobyhanna township community has moved out with a street lighting program by completing installation of 21 lights which were energized for the first time Monday night.

Tobyhanna township supervisors, operating with the cooperation of property owners along the region which is now lighted and the assistance of Pennsylvania Power & Light Co., brought to the township its first municipal street lighting system.

The system, including the most modern fixtures expressly designed for rural regions, starts at the Pocono Pines postoffice near Pocono Crest and extends to the lower entrance to the Tobyhanna Township High school in Pocono Lake.

From that point the lights carry around a loop or block from Bonser's store back to Central garage.

The installation utilizes an up-sweep mast arm-type standard fixture which carries 18 one thousand and three 2,500 lumen lamps.

In order to meet the requests for lights, supervisors under the law were required to obtain signatures of owners of 51 per cent of the lineal front feet of property covered by the system.

Once that quota was met — a considerably larger proportion was obtained — supervisors were allowed to authorize installation.

The installation was handled through the Mount Pocono office of P&L Co. which is under the management of Paul McBride.

A special tax is levied on the affected property owners to pay for the lights. The tax runs at the rate of seven cents per front foot on improved property — for instance a 50-foot lot and house — down to one and three-quarters cents a front foot for unimproved property.

Power company bills the supervisors and they make payment from funds collected on the special front-foot tax.

Woman, 59, Found Dead At Mellhaney

Saylorsburg — A 59-year-old New York State woman was found dead by hanging yesterday afternoon at Saylorsburg RD 2.

According to State police from the sub-station at Brodheadsville, the woman was Miss Gertrude Lorms, who lived with a sister, Mrs. Carrie Carl, of Tonawanda, N. Y. She had been staying with Mrs. Fred Bender, of Saylorsburg RD 2, in the Mellhaney section.

She had left the house around 3:30 yesterday afternoon saying that she was going for a walk in the woods. Since she had done this many times before, to pick berries and take pictures, nothing was thought about it. About 4:30, Mrs. Bender became worried and called for Miss Lorms several times. Unable to locate her by 6:45, Mrs. Bender called the State police.

In the meantime, John Snyder, of Brodheadsville, and Myron Snyder, of Saylorsburg, who had visited at the Bender home, went looking for Miss Lorms. They went nearly to the top of the Mountain behind the Bender house, before they found the body hanging from a tree.

Police arrived and called for a physician who said that she had been dead for about three hours. Saylorsburg Justice of the Peace George Klitcher, acting coroner, pronounced it a suicide.

The body was turned over to the E. M. Kresge funeral home, Brodheadsville, who will announce funeral arrangements at a later date.

Mrs. Hutton To Appear On TV Program

Bartonsville — Ann Hawkes Hutton, well-known author and lecturer and a part time resident of this place since 1927 when her father, the late Thomas G. Hawkes a Philadelphia lawyer, purchased Hawkeshill, will be a guest on the Home Highlights television program on WCAU-TV channel 10, on Thursday at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Hutton made her television debut on February 22, 1951 when she was interviewed on the Rhona Lloyd show. Early this month she appeared on the TV program of Ray Neal.

Mrs. Hutton, author of "George Washington Crossed Here" has done extensive research on the American Revolution. In 1939 Governor James appointed her to the Washington Crossing Park commission of Bucks county.

A well-known speaker, Mrs. Hutton often addresses groups of high school students right in the park. She finds that this practice gives the students a feeling of direct contact with history. They can visualize events and feel history live.

Mrs. Hutton also addresses patriotic organizations, women's clubs and teachers' groups. In the spring of 1949 she was one of a group of guest speakers at the convention of the Junior Historical Society of Northeastern Pennsylvania, which was held at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Making plans for future books, Mrs. Hutton will continue her work of shedding new light on events that are well-known but not well understood. All her royalties and speaking fees go into a fund for restoring the Thompson-Seely house and Old Ferry Inn as museums in Washington Crossing Park.

Born in Philadelphia, Mrs. Hutton graduated from Friends Select school. She received degrees from the University of Pennsylvania School of Education and Law School.

After her study of law, Mrs. Hutton went into the field of radio. She wrote and narrated a show for Station WCAU as Ann Barclay. Writing spot commercials for radio, working in general advertising — and writing commercial movie scripts have been among her activities.

Mrs. Hutton has contributed many articles to nationally known

Dingmans Woman Seriously Hurt When Auto Overturns

Milford — A Dingmans Ferry woman was seriously injured yesterday at 5:45 p. m., when the car she was driving overturned and rolled into a cornfield on Route 209, two miles south of Milford.

She was taken to the St. Francis hospital, Port Jervis, by the Crellin and Stroyan ambulance of Milford. Her condition, as reported by the hospital last night, was fair.

According to Pte. John McCarthy of the Milford State police sub-station, who investigated the accident, Mrs. Marguerite Gardner, employed by the Alquist Engineering Corp., of Milford, was driving south on Route 209, when she attempted to pass the car in front of her. In the other car were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Knerr, of Easton.

Attempting to pass, Mrs. Gardner pulled out too quickly and caught the front bumper of her car on the rear bumper of the Knerr car. This threw the Gardner car to the other side of the road, where it overturned and rolled into a mudhole in the cornfield.

Damage to the Knerr car was estimated at no more than $30, while the Gardner car was reported a total loss.

Washington (AP) — The House rolled up a 362 to 1 vote yesterday in favor of breaking off trade relations with Czechoslovakia as long as Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis remains in a Czech jail.

With fiery and indignant language, House members denounced Oatis' conviction on "espionage" charges as "a shocking violation of the fundamental human freedoms guaranteed in the United Nations charter." Oatis was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The House action came in approval of a resolution written by Rep. Beamer (R) whose district includes Oatis' home town of Marion, Ind.

The resolution now goes to the Senate for action.

Antique Show Is Reported Big Success

Reports of the recent antique show sponsored by the Monroe County General Hospital Auxiliary were given at the meeting held in the directors' room of the hospital yesterday afternoon. Mrs. George Hauser, the president, presided.

Mrs. Gilbert Barthold gave the report on the antique show which was pronounced a success and Mrs. Hauser told of the cafeteria which showed a profit of over $200 which exceeded all expectations, it was stated. The profits from the show go toward liquidating the Auxiliary's pledge of $15,000 which is being rapidly approached.

The financial report was given by Mrs. Guyton Kempter, the treasurer.

An excellent report was given on the operation of the Hospital Shop at the hospital and the volunteers were highly commended for their work.

Plans for the operetta production to be given during the coming winter were discussed. The definite time and other details will be announced.

The next meeting will be held at Laurel Lodge, former Reenleigh hotel, Delaware Water Gap, with the members of the auxiliary in that area acting as hosts.

Refreshments were enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

Production of wool and blended carpets and rugs during the month of May, 1951, amounted to 5,410,000 square yards, a decrease of 23 per cent from May, 1950. There is a decrease of 4 per cent over last year during the first five months of 1951, reports the Carpet Institute.

Pops Concert At WaterGap On Thursday

The pops concert and variety show, featuring the Delaware Water Gap orchestra, will be held in the Blue Sky Room of Castle Inn, Delaware Water Gap, on Thursday night, August 16 at 8-30.

The affair, which promises to be an entertaining program of musical numbers, is sponsored by the Delaware Water Gap Firemen's Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Fred Shoemaker is president.

Professor Willard Wolff, of Belvidere, N. J., a former resident of Stroudsburg, will be the guest conductor.

The program will open with "Connecticut" March by William Nassann, played by the orchestra, followed by a few words of welcome by master of ceremonies, H. Jack LaBar.

Part one of the program consists of: two orchestral selections, a ballet dance number entitled "Raindrops," featuring Elsa Drake and Candy Kohn, two orchestral selections, and cello solo, by Michael Finelli, cellist.

Part two will feature an original skit—"Ala Good Old Tourist Time" written by Raymond R. Kohn, of East Stroudsburg. The cast of characters includes Mrs. Willard Kitchen, Forrest R. Smith and Francis R. Drake, with music by the orchestra. An orchestral selection and baritone solo played by Philip A. Sheaff Jr. will follow.

Part three of the program consists of four orchestral selections: Tova Hammerman will sing two selections, accompanied by Miss Nora Leffler and two orchestral selections.

The last part of the program will include a ballet dance number by Pauline Mickey and two orchestral selections.

During the program, refreshments will be sold by the management of Castle Inn.

Tickets will be available at the door, or may be obtained from any member of the Delaware Water Gap Firemen's Auxiliary. The public is invited to attend.

A couple of tablespoons of chili sauce and two more tablespoons of finely chopped water-cress added to a half cup of French dressing give the dressing zest. It's good served over a hard-cooked egg salad.

To prepare green peppers for stuffing cut off the stem end of each pepper, remove seeds and white membranes, and cook about five minutes in boiling salted water.

CRAMPED TOES

Like most foot troubles, cramped toes are really shoe fitting troubles. Every foot needs freedom and perfect balance. Toes must not be cramped. Arches must be supported. Heels must fit snugly, then the foot is comfortable.

OUT FLARE SHOES give the entire foot natural freedom; all arches are supported properly, heels fit perfectly and they hold their shape. Let us show you a pair.

Lions Club Hears Report On Coming Wrestling Show

Stroudsburg Lions, at their dinner meeting in Rick Depuy's Bushkill restaurant last night, greeted former pianist Al DeRenzi, who is home on a furlough from the U. S. Army, and were entertained by a group of six singers.

President T. Manning Curtis was in the chair. He called for a report on the coming wrestling match from Committee Chairman Cy Katz. The latter said that a banner advertising the bouts has been strung across Main St. at Seventh. Date for the match is Wednesday, August 22, at Gordon Giffels field. All the attractions, previously tentatively, announced have been confirmed and the club members are urged to push energetically, the sale of the tickets.

Edward Knob Jr., a guest, served as song leader and Al DeRenzi presided at the piano. He was warmly welcomed by the club.

President Curtis reported on the exchange held Sunday at Abell's Lake, and stated that it was on the way to being a splendid success, when the heavy rain of Sunday came up and interfered with the festivities. He thanked Chairman Frank McNamara and his fellow workers for their assistance.

Sam Everett was reported a patient in the hospital and the club expressed its regrets.

A new member, Sam Menott, was obligated in membership, the work being done by James R. Gavin.

An award was made to Jack Kitchen, District Governor Elton Hall spoke briefly.

Elmer Rinehart called to the attention of the club the case of a family of small children, almost destitute of toys, and the club took action to supply the same.

Emerson Rahn served as tail-twister in the absence of James Samers.

President Curtis introduced the singers of the evening, Eddie Knob, Bobbie Altenose, Christine Teeter, Dave Bevans and Mooney Hinton.

Shawnee

A correction on the report of the "Shawnee Sketchbook" show held on Saturday night should read that Doris Haase, of East Stroudsburg, was the pianist in the orchestra which played prior to the show and she also played the background music for the "Family Album" sketch. Mrs. Robert Bradburn played the violin with the orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Christenberry celebrated their wedding anniversary on Tuesday.

Clark Heaps Praise On 28th Division

Ft. Bragg, N. C. CP—Gen. Mark W. Clark, chief of Army field forces, looked over the 28th Infantry Division here yesterday.

Accompanying the four-star general were Lt. Gen. John W. Leonard, commanding general Third Field Army; Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, commander of the "Key-stone" Division; and Brig. Gen. John G. Van Houten, assistant division commander of the 28th.

The group toured front line units, inspected and watched the digging of foxholes, gun emplacements, interviewed enlisted men, inspected field kitchens, and looked over situation maps.

General Clark said of the inspection: "I am very much impressed with what I've seen here. Everyone appears to be serious and seems to realize the importance of getting the most out of this field exercise."

To Brig. Gen. Van Houten, recently assigned assistant division commander of the former Pennsylvania National Guard division, the Army field forces chief said: "You did a good job at the ranger school (Gen. Van Houten's prior assignment was CO of the ranger training school at Ft. Benning, Ga.) your experience there will help you a lot in your new assignment with the 28th division."

As General Clark left the forward echelon command post, after the inspection tour, he smiled encouragingly to the "Bloody Bucket" commander, General Strickler, and remarked, "Keep up the fine work, the division is in excellent shape."

Meanwhile, the division commander disclosed that personnel of the 28th Infantry Division, upon their return to Camp Atterbury, Ind., will get leaves during September 15 to October 15, prior to overseas movement. Duration of the leaves has not yet been determined. However, it was pointed out that an effort will be made to permit each soldier to be at home the maximum length of time with 50 per cent of the personnel to be on leave at one time.

Exercise Southern Pine will terminate August 27, after which the 28th will return to Atterbury to prepare for overseas shipment to the European command as part of General Eisenhower's Atlantic pact army.

Life of Riley

Sports Editor

Members of the Stroudsburg Little League all-star team will canvas their various neighborhoods between now and Friday, hopeful of selling a carload of tickets for Friday night's doubleheader at Gordon Giffels field. The double attraction will bring the Tamaqua Little League all-stars against a similar aggregation from the Stroudsburg circuit in the first game, to be played as a twilight affair, while Pocono A. C. and Endicott-Johnson Shoe Co. cross bats in the nightcap, to be played under the lights.

Gail "Doe" Fegley, manager of the Stroudsburg Little Leaguers, passed on the information that special prizes will be presented during the first game, with the number one award going to the most valuable player in the contest. All proceeds from the bargain bill to be presented on Friday will go to the Stroudsburg Little League, most of it to be set aside in a fund to defray the cost of an official Little League field to be built in Stroudsburg in the very near future.

The fact that August "Angie" Lockwitch has won five club titles at Glen Brook Country club is doubly impressive since the current champ was hit in the left foot by a shell during World War II. Lockwitch has had to have skin grafted on at least one occasion, but still maintains his terrific pace on the fairways, including three straight titles at the local club. Pat and Mike Rubish, wife and professional at Glen Brook, are to be honored at a dance Saturday night. According to information that this writer has been able to gather during recent days, Mike will be back at Glen Brook next year.

A special sort of service is being used by the Lions club of the Stroudsburgs, in regards to selling tickets for the gala wrestling show to be presented at Gordon Giffels field a week from today. Anyone wishing to purchase tickets is asked to telephone either 2369 or 1219 and the tickets will be delivered on a C.O.D. basis. Primo Carnera and two women grapplers will feature the show which according to reports is costing the local club $2,000 to promote. It will take a lot of cooperation on the part of everyone to turn this program into a success, as it's the biggest mat show ever presented in Monroe county.

Jim Radler and Bill Leopold, both umpires in the North Atlantic league last year, worked in the Tri-County Junior Legion league and the Up-Valley league during the summer months. Radler is a brother to Frank Radler, who managed the Stroudsburg Poconos for the past three seasons and moved to DeLand, Fla., when the North Atlantic circuit collapsed last winter. Frank currently has his DeLand club out in front in the class "D" Florida State league by 13 full games over the second place aggregation.

Bobby Eckhart, star softball performer in March Chunk, and president of the softball league in that locality, was notified recently that he had to quit playing, due to a knee injury picked up at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. It is also quite possible that Eckhart will have to undergo surgery in the near future. Dr. Harry L. Tennyson is the new superintendent at Lehighton school, and is reportedly doubly interested in athletics and no doubt will improve the athletic situation for the Indians.

Craig Mellenger, Paterson, N. J., scheduled to "flag" the races at Delaware Valley Speedway for the remainder of the season, gives the local track a big time flavor. Mellenger according to reports has started three races at Indianapolis and works most of the large tracks in the east. Mellenger does the flagging at Bone Stadium, which attracts many racing fans from Monroe and nearby Northampton counties to Pittston every Wednesday night. "Shorty" Kershner, winner of seven straight feature events at the Delaware Valley Speedway recently, broke up with the owner of his car and when Kershner returns to the local track it will be with a new machine.

Sam Everitt, well known basketball official, is showing improvement at the Monroe County General hospital, after being confined with a back injury. Ray Hertz, former infielder with Nazareth, North Atlantic league, is scheduled to report for Army induction this coming Monday. Hertz is currently a member of the Hagerstown, Md., club, of the class "B" Inter-State league. Jerry Stulgaitis took in a round of golf at Shawnee yesterday, as his days of pleasure begin heading for the home stretch. Stulgaitis, head football coach at Stroudsburg High, is scheduled to open practice next Monday.

Shawnee Inn is finding it difficult to make reservations for all those that want to play in Sunday's pro-member tournament. Right now everything is reportedly filled up, with more applications arriving daily. The pro-member tournament always comes the day before the Philadelphia PGA tournament, which is scheduled to hold its qualifying round on Monday.

Pocono A. C. Invades Roseto In Final League Contest

Schoonover To Pitch Against Raph

Pocono A. C. and Roseto A. A. will tangle in the final Blue Mountain league game of the season on the latter's home field tonight, as the two arch rivals continue a diamond feud that sprung up this season, the first year the Monroe county club has campaigned in the circuit.

Manager John Schoonover announced last night that he would toe the rubber against the number three team in the standings, while Roseto is expected to send Glen Raph, young fast ball artist against the club that wound up the campaign in the number two position behind pennant winning East Bangor.

Pocono A. C. undoubtedly will feature the same lineup that will enter the playoffs against West Bangor on Sunday. This means that John Drew will do the catching, Danny Eppley will hold down first base, Devey Marling, second base; Jim Wertheimer, shortstop; Tom "Lem" Bonser, third base; Doug Schoonover, left field; Bob Schick, center field, and Dick Schaller in right.

The game is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m., 15 minutes ahead of the starting time used during the regular season. Roseto holds a two-one edge of the A. C. forces at this date, but one contest was rained out in the seventh inning with Pocono A. C. on the long end of a 3-2 count. However, the score reverted to the sixth frame and the game ended in a 2-2 deadlock.

Cubs Edge Cardinals, 5-4

St. Louis (AP)—"Hank" Sauer was the main show last night, pounding out two homers and a double to bat in all the Cubs' runs, as Chicago took a 5 to 4 decision from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Sauer hit his nineteenth four-bagger of the year in the third inning after Frank Baumholtz walked. Hank then hit number 20 in the fifth with the sacks empty.

Two More
In the first frame Hal Jeffcoat beat out a bunt, Baumholtz singled, sending Jeffcoat to third, and Sauer doubled, bringing home both men.

All the Red Bird runs came in on doubles.

Coast Guardsman Wins
Pittsburgh (AP)—Arnold Palmer, a 22-year-old Coast Guardsman yesterday was the surprise medalist winner with a par 72 in the fifty-first annual West Penn Amateur Golf tournament at Alcoma Golf club.

Yankees Break Losing Streak With Three Runs In Ninth To Take Measure Of Senators, 6-3

Washington (AP)—The New York Yankees scored three runs with two out in the ninth inning to defeat Washington, 6-3, last night before a crowd of 19,680. Bob Kuzava, last of three New York pitchers, singled across the tie-breaking run in the ninth for his ninth victory.

The win kept the Yanks two and a half games behind Cleveland in the American league pennant race. The Indians beat Detroit, 6-5, in an afternoon game at Cleveland.

Williams' Homers, Triple Play Give Bosox Verdict Over A's

Philadelphia (AP)—A pair of home runs by Ted Williams and the execution of a triple play gave the Boston Red Sox a 7-4 win over the Philadelphia Athletics last night. Williams' blows were his 24th and 25th of the season and gave him the American league home run leadership over Gus Zernial of the A's who has 24.

Boston came up with the triple killing in Philadelphia's half of the eighth inning. Second Baseman Billy Goodman collared Hank Majeski's liner with the bags loaded and none out.

Goodman stepped on second to force one runner and then threw to Walt Dropo to retire Zernial before the latter had a chance to retrace his steps.

Philadelphia entered the inning trailing by five runs and scored twice on Reliever Charley Stobbs. He replaced Mickey McDermott when the latter had to retire because of a pain in his left side under the shoulder. A single by Pinch Hitter Joe Astroth, a walk to Eddie Joost, successive hits by Elmer Valo and Allie Clark and a pass to Zernial with the bags loaded brought the A's their runs.

Stobbs went out and Walter Masterson came in as his replacement. Majeski went after Masterson's third pitch and lined it toward right center. Goodman speared the ball and turned it into the triple play.

Williams' first blast came with Johnny Pesky on base and highlighted a three run first inning uprising against Starter Sam Zoladak. The Bosox scored twice off Reliever Joe Coleman in the second. Williams opened Boston's fourth win with his second homer of the game and gave him his 100th run batted in, the first major league to reach the century mark this year.

Majeski belted his third round tripper of the year in leading off for Philadelphia in the fourth. Boston.....321 100 000—7 14 0

Pro Football Tonight
Los Angeles (AP)—This may be where you came in—the Los Angeles Rams are favored over the Washington Redskins in the season's exhibition football opener here tonight.

That means that the experts are sticking out their necks again. For three years they have established the Rams as favorites, only to have the easterners spoil the fun. Before that the Rams won twice. This is the sixth game, as usual for Los Angeles Times charities.

Philadelphia (AP)—Frank A. Piekarski, 71, former Allegheny County Court judge and All-America football star, died yesterday.

He had been in ill health since 1942 when he resigned from the bench. Blair F. Gunther, a son-in-law, who is now a superior court judge, succeeded him.

Judge Piekarski played guard for the University of Pennsylvania football teams of 1901, '02, '03 and '04. He was named All-America in his senior year. Following his graduation, the former jurist coached football at Washington and Jefferson College.

Flash---
Giants Win Over Dodgers
New York (AP)—New York's all-but-out-of-it Giants last night gained their first victory over Brooklyn in seven weeks as freshman George Spencer pitched them to a 4-2 triumph over the Dodgers. A pair of first inning homers by Don Mueller and "Whitney" Lockman off starter Erv Palica helped the Giants trim Brooklyn's first place margin to 11 and one-half games.

Getting a starting opportunity because Manager Leo Durocher wished to give his regular starters a longer rest, Spencer turned in a splendid performance. He weakened only in the eighth inning when successive two-out homers by Billy Cox and "Duke" Snider spoiled his shutout bid.

Long Time
It was the Giants' first win over the Dodgers since June 28. Since then, Brooklyn had won six straight, all in Ebbetts Field.

A crowd of 42,867, evenly divided between Dodger and Giant rooters, visualized another one of those last minute Dodger uprisings when Wayne Terwilliger followed the two home run blasts with a single, Campanella, the hottest hitter in the league during the last four weeks, fouled out this time, however, to end the threat, a double play foiled the Dodgers in the ninth.

American Loop May Change Playing Rule

New York (AP)—Recent confusion about rain and curfew-curtailled games has influenced American League owners to consider playing off all abbreviated games—including those stopped by rain—at a later date, President Will Harridge and seven of the eight clubs want a change.

Harridge supports adoption of a rule that will be on the agenda at the December meetings. Apparently nothing can be done about it this season without a special meeting.

"The American League is favorable to the adoption of a rule which will complete any game terminated by rain, curfew law, or necessity of catching trains before nine full innings have been played," said Harridge yesterday in Chicago.

A poll of the clubs by the Associated Press showed three moguls favoring playing off all shortened games later and four others anxious to adopt the National League rule, which covers only games halted by curfew or agreements to catch trains.

Art Ehlers, General Manager of the Philadelphia A's, was the only club representative to favor keeping the present rule. His manager, Jimmy Dykes, however, felt the "curfew rule is unfair."

Big Fuss
The big fuss started when New York won a July 27 night game at Yankee Stadium from Chicago Trailing 3-1 after eight innings, Chicago scored three in the ninth to take a 4-3 lead and had the bases loaded with only one out when rain halted play. After waiting an hour and two minutes while rain continued to fall, the umpires called the game with the score reverting to the last complete inning and 3-1 Yankee win.

There has been no decision from Harridge's office on a protest by the White Sox. However, both managers and the umpires have been ordered to appear at a hearing at Chicago, August 27.

The Yanks lost a game in similar fashion Sunday when they rallied to go ahead of Philadelphia in the top of the eighth only to have the Pennsylvania Sunday Curfew halt play at 7:00 p. m. (EDT) and wipe out the rally.

The owners who favor adoption of the National League rule on suspended games do not want to include rain games.

Philadelphia Stars Account For Decision Over East Bangor

Bangor—East Bangor, 1951 Blue Mountain league pennant winner, stepped out of its class last night and suffered an 8-1 defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Stars, a member of the Negro American league, before 500 people here at Memorial Park last night.

Jim Dietz, popular right hander, who pitched hitless ball for three innings against the same club when the Blue Mountain league all-stars opposed the Philadelphia Stars earlier in the season, was tagged for two runs in the top of the third round and was never able to catch up the remainder of the distance.

Ken Rouse, Philadelphia center fielder, added a singleton in the fourth when he stroked one of Dietz's offerings for a home run.

The host East Bangor team broke its scoring famine in the fifth with a single run. However, the Stars had too much in reserve and wound up the scoring with three in the seventh and a pair in the ninth.

Ralph Tucker led the East Bangor attack at the plate with two sacrifices, including a triple. Sims and Rouse were the big guns in a winning attack, each lacing out a pair of hits.

Braves Trip' Phillies On Circuit Blows

Boston (AP)—Home runs by Eba St. Claire and Sam Jethroe aided young Chet Nichols to pitch his seventh victory of the season last night for the Boston Braves who downed the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2. St. Claire's homer, his first of the year, was slugged in the second and Jethroe walloped his fifteenth of the season with one on in the third.

The Phils were able to score but once in both the fourth and fifth innings as the young southpaw held them at bay the rest of the route.

Roberts Fails
Boston hopped on starter Robin Roberts, who was aiming for his seventeenth victory, for one run in the first on Jethroe's three bagger off the wall in right center and Earl Torgeson's single.

Jethroe's homer into the Phils bullpen in right center, scored Sibby Sisti who had walked.

Little League Tourney Opens

Williamsport (AP)—A four-day tournament opens here today to determine the 1951 Little League champion for Pennsylvania—the hot-bed of the fast-growing baseball for kids program.

Eight district champions, survivors of as many regional eliminations, will seek to represent Region Three in the National Little League World Series here next week.

Total
A total of 263 of the more than 700 leagues throughout the country make Pennsylvania the only state comprising an entire region. A single game opens the tournament this afternoon. The original Little League of Williamsport, representing district four, will meet the Potter-McKean entry.

The remaining three first-round games are scheduled for Thursday.
